NO. 1 REL 2001

RE: LIQUIDATOR'S PETITION FOR THIRD INTERIM DISTRIBUTION

ORDER

AND NOW, THIS _____ day of _____, 2011, upon consideration of the Liquidator's Petition for Third Interim Distribution ("Petition") filed by Michael F. Consedine, Insurance Commissioner of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in his official capacity as Statutory Liquidator ("Liquidator") of Reliance Insurance Company ("Reliance"), it is hereby ORDERED and DECREED that:

1. The cumulative Third Interim Distribution Percentage for 40% of NOD allowed amounts is APPROVED for all class (b) Eligible Claimants as defined in the Petition;
2. The Ineligible Claimants listed on Exhibit A to the Petition, and any future Ineligible Claimants as defined in the Petition, must look to the Guaranty Association in their state or the special deposits held in their state for any payment of their claims, and may not receive any distribution from the Reliance Estate unless they become eligible for distribution in accordance with the Ineligible Claimant Procedure as set forth in the Petition;

3. The calculation methodology and Safety Factor Percentage approved by this Court's Order of November 19, 2007 ("Aggregate Order"), and as modified by any subsequent Orders, will continue to be applied to all claims under policies with aggregate limits and any distributions made on those claims;

4. The Liquidator shall issue checks based on the cumulative Third Interim Distribution Percentage to class (b) Eligible Claimants; those Eligible Claimants who have already received a 30% distribution will receive an additional distribution based on the increase in the distribution percentage to 40%;

LIQUIDATOR'S PETITION FOR THIRD INTERIM DISTRIBUTION

Petitioner, Michael F. Consedine, Insurance Commissioner of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in his official capacity as Statutory Liquidator ("Liquidator") of Reliance Insurance Company ("Reliance or Estate"), petitions the Court for approval of a Third Interim Distribution. In support of the Liquidator's Petition for Third Interim Distribution ("Petition"), the Liquidator avers as follows:

Background Regarding the Liquidation of Reliance

1. On May 29, 2001, this Court entered a Rehabilitation Order with respect to Reliance pursuant to Article V of the Pennsylvania Insurance Department Act, 40 P.S. §§221.1 – 221.63 ("Act"), and appointed the Pennsylvania Insurance Commissioner as Rehabilitator.

2. This Court subsequently terminated the rehabilitation of Reliance and, by Order dated October 3, 2001, declared Reliance to be insolvent; issued a Liquidation Order pursuant to 40 P.S. §§221.18 and 221.20; appointed the Pennsylvania Insurance Commissioner as Liquidator of Reliance; ordered the Liquidator to take possession of all Reliance property; and authorized the Liquidator to liquidate the business and affairs of Reliance.

3. The Liquidator is statutorily charged with the duties of a) identifying, marshaling and liquidating assets of the Estate; b) processing and evaluating claims to determine the liabilities of the Estate; and c) distributing assets to the Claimants<sup>1</sup> of the Estate in accordance with the mandates set forth in the Act. See 40 P.S. §§221.19 – 221.63.

4. The Act, at 40 P.S. §221.44, sets forth the priority of claims for any distribution of assets from the Estate and requires that “[e]very claim in each class shall be paid in full or adequate funds retained for such payment before the members of the next class receive any payment.” Class (a) claims are for “[t]he costs and expenses of administration”. All class (a) claims are being paid in full. Class (b) claims are for “claims under policies for losses”.

5. On July 27, 2007, the Liquidator filed a Petition to Supplement the Court’s December 9, 2002 Claims Procedures Order to Address Claims Under Aggregate Policies (“Aggregate Petition”), and this Court approved the Aggregate Petition by its Order dated November 19, 2007 (“Aggregate Order”). The Aggregate Order approved the Safety Factor Percentage and the methodology outlined in the Aggregate Petition for calculating any distribution to Claimants under Aggregate Policies<sup>2</sup>. In conjunction with this Petition, the Liquidator is filing a petition to supplement the Aggregate Order which proposes a decrease in the Safety Factor Percentage. The Liquidator has determined that his petition to supplement the Aggregate Order does not adversely affect this recommendation for a Third Interim Distribution.

6. On December 14, 2007, the Liquidator filed a Petition for First Interim Distribution (“First Distribution Petition”) which was approved by this Court’s Order of January 17, 2008, (“First Distribution Order”) which ordered, in part, as follows:

<sup>1</sup> In this Petition, “Claimants” will be used to refer to policyholders, insureds, third party claimants and other creditors, collectively.

<sup>2</sup> Many Reliance liability policies have an aggregate limit. An aggregate limit is a provision in a policy that limits the maximum liability of an insurer under that policy. For example, if during the policy term, there are losses totaling $5,000,000 from several occurrences, but there is a policy aggregate limit of $3,000,000, the insurer would not be liable for more than $3,000,000 for that policy period.

a. The First Interim Distribution Percentage for 20% of Notice of Determination (“NOD”) allowed amounts is APPROVED for all class (b) Claimants whose NOD is approved by the Court, and

b. For the First Interim Distribution and all future distributions, claims under policies with aggregate limits will be handled pursuant to this Court’s Order of November 19, 2007.

7. On December 29, 2009, the Liquidator filed a Petition for Second Interim Distribution (“Second Distribution Petition”) which was approved by this Court’s Order of March 29, 2010, (“Second Distribution Order”) which ordered, in part, as follows:

a. The cumulative Second Interim Distribution Percentage for 30% of NOD allowed amounts is approved for all class (b) Eligible Claimants as defined in the Second Distribution Petition;

b. Ineligible Claimants may not receive any distribution from the Reliance Estate and must look to the Guaranty Association (“GA”) in their state or the special deposits held in their state for any payment of their claims; and

c. For the cumulative Second Interim Distribution and all future distributions, except the final distribution, the Liquidator need not issue a distribution check for less than $25 per Eligible Claimant.

8. Pursuant to both the First and Second Distribution Orders, a total of $206,616,914 has been distributed to class (b) Claimants, as of September 30, 2011, for 5469 class (b) NODs which were approved by the Court. The above total does not include substantial additional payments (almost $3 billion) made to class (b) Claimants by GAs, under Reliance policies. The GAs have received early access monies (over $2.6 billion) to fund those payments pursuant to 40 P.S. §221.36.

Current Operating Status

9. The Liquidator files quarterly status reports with the Commonwealth Court which provide detailed information regarding, among other things, the financial condition of Reliance and the claims process (“Quarterly Reports”). These Quarterly Reports are available on the Reliance Documents website at www.reliancedocuments.com.

10. Subject to the caveats regarding financial information in the Quarterly Reports and in the Notes to the Special Purpose Financial Statements attached as an exhibit to the Quarterly Reports, total estimated assets for Reliance as of June 30, 2011 were $5.4 billion. Total estimated liabilities were $8.9 billion, leaving an estimated net deficit of $3.5 billion. The liquid investment portfolio, as of June 30, 2011, totaled $2.2 billion which will provide sufficient cash for continued payment in full of all future class (a) claims and, for this Third Interim Distribution, on class (b) claims.

11. The deadline for filing Proofs of Claim (“POCs”) was December 31, 2003. As of June 30, 2011, Reliance had received a total of 61,587 POCs, preliminarily classified as class (b) claims.<sup>3</sup> As of June 30, 2011, Reliance has issued class (b) NODs for 58,455<sup>4</sup> of the 61,587 class

<sup>3</sup> In his Petition for Second Interim Distribution, the Liquidator reported receipt of approximately 61,825 POCs preliminarily classified as priority (b) claims. The Orders issued by this Court on May 1 and November 27 2007, requiring claimants to submit complete information about their claims in a timely fashion continue to assist the Liquidator in obtaining timely and current information regarding claims. Failure to provide the information required by the Court Orders resulted in the subordination of several hundred POCs to priority class (g).

<sup>4</sup> The class (b) NODs issued by Reliance include NODs on claims under policies with aggregate limits which are subject to 40 P.S. 221.40(d).

(b) POCs for a total allowed amount of $835,301,993. This Court has approved 57,166 class (b) NODs, as of June 30, 2011, for a total allowed amount of $781,226,402.

Claimants Eligible for Third Interim
Distribution and Ineligible Claimant Procedure

12. In its Second Distribution Order, this Court approved distributions to all class (b) Claimants whose NOD had been approved by the Court, subject to certain interstate priority restrictions applicable to special deposit claims<sup>5</sup> and required by 40 P.S. §221.61(b). Section 221.61(b) provides that:

The owners of special deposit claims against an insurer for which a liquidator is appointed in this or any other state shall be given priority against the special deposits in accordance with the statutes governing the creation and maintenance of the deposits. If there is a deficiency in any deposit, so that the claims secured by it are not fully discharged from it, the claimants may share in the general assets, but the sharing shall be deferred until general creditors, and also claimants against other special deposits who have received smaller percentages from their respective special deposits, have been paid percentages of their claims equal to the percentage paid from the special deposit.

The evident purpose of 40 P.S. §221.61(b) is to encourage states to return their special deposits to the domiciliary liquidator so that all claimants from all states receive equal distributions, according to their priority classification.

13. In the Second Interim Distribution Petition, the Liquidator advised this Court that the following states/territory (“Deposit States”)<sup>6</sup> had elected to forego any distribution from the Reliance Estate in Pennsylvania (“Reliance PA Estate”) and retain their special deposits for <sup>5</sup> A special deposit claim is “any claim secured by a deposit made pursuant to statute for the security or benefit of a limited class or classes of person, but not including any claim secured by general assets.” See 40 P.S. § 221.3. Special deposits are generally designated to cover the obligations of the insolvent insurer to the policyholders and claimants in the state holding the deposits.

<sup>6</sup> The state of New York also holds a deposit of approximately $4.4 million for all U.S. claimants of Reliance Insurance Company of Illinois. However, the New York Liquidation Bureau is working cooperatively with Reliance to return those funds to the Liquidator and it is expected that a petition to return the funds will be filed in the New York Conservation proceedings before the end of this year.

distribution to only the Claimants who are eligible to make claims against the special deposit in their particular state<sup>7</sup>:

| State <sup>8</sup> | Claimants Affected          | Deposit Amount <sup>9</sup> |
|---------------------------|------------------------------------|------------------------------------|
| Arizona                   | worker compensation Claimants only | $22,530,288                       |
| Massachusetts             | worker compensation Claimants only | $53,172,000                       |
| Oregon                    | worker compensation Claimants only | $31,059,676                       |
| U.S. Virgin Islands       | all Claimants                      | $1,035,000                        |

14. Generally, if a state elects to retain its special deposit, it is because the state has determined that its claimants are likely to obtain a higher distribution percentage from the special deposit than they would be entitled to from the Reliance PA Estate. The Second Distribution Order confirmed that Claimants (including GAs) who are eligible to pursue a claim against a special deposit (“Ineligible Claimants”): (a) would not receive a distribution from the Reliance PA Estate because it appears unlikely that there will be sufficient assets to provide any distribution on claims below class (b); and (b) must look to the GA in the Deposit State or to the special deposit held in that state for any payment of their claims.

15. In the Second Interim Distribution Petition, the Liquidator indicated that class (e) NODs would be issued to all Ineligible Claimants. However, upon further evaluation, the Liquidator has determined that this procedure would not be practical, efficient or in the best interests of the Reliance PA Estate and its Claimants, because it would (a) require the Liquidator <sup>7</sup> If the special deposit required by the state and posted by Reliance only covered worker compensation claims, then only the worker compensation Claimants would be affected by 40 P.S. §221.61. If the state only retained the worker compensation deposits, then Claimants under liability policies residing in those states could still receive a distribution from the Reliance PA Estate pursuant to this Court’s Order of December 11, 2003 approving the refunding agreements to be executed by the GAs.

<sup>8</sup> The special deposits held by Arizona, Massachusetts and Oregon are administered by the ancillary receivers in those states. It is the Liquidator’s understanding that in the Virgin Islands, the special deposit is jointly administered by the Commissioner of Insurance and the Commissioner of Finance.

<sup>9</sup> The deposit amounts shown are as of the date that the state effectively took control of the deposit.

to interpret and apply the laws of the Deposit States in order to determine which Claimants may be eligible for a distribution from those States' special deposits; and (b) cause the Reliance PA Estate to incur the potentially substantial cost of resolving disputes regarding Claimant eligibility with respect to assets that have been retained by the Deposit States and not turned over to the Liquidator for the benefit of all Reliance Claimants.

16. As noted above, special deposits are established and administered pursuant to the law of the applicable Deposit State. Consequently, the criteria for determining whether a Claimant is eligible for a distribution from a special deposit vary by state, and the eligibility determination will require an interpretation of relevant state statutes that is most readily ascertainable by the ancillary receiver or GA in the Deposit State. The criteria may or may not require a specific nexus to the Deposit State, such as residency or employment in that state, and the time period at which the requisite nexus must exist is not specified and may also vary. For example, for Arizona worker compensation claims against the special deposit, eligibility depends on where the worker was hired or employed and/or where a claim was filed. See A.R.S. §23-904.

17. In contrast, the only information available to the Liquidator regarding a Claimant's nexus to another state is the current address contained in the Reliance computer systems<sup>10</sup> (obtained from the original POC or as updated by the Claimant) and/or which state GA is handling the claim. Exhibit A attached hereto is a list of all Ineligible Claimants as of October 1, 2011, comprising Claimants that Reliance can identify, based on address, as having a potential claim against the funds held by a Deposit State.

<sup>10</sup> Historical addresses for Claimants are not captured or maintained in Reliance computer systems.

18. Under these circumstances, the Liquidator has determined that the interests of the Reliance PA Estate and its Claimants will be best and most efficiently served if the Ineligible Claimants are offered an election as to where they intend to pursue their claim and if the applicable Deposit State determines which Claimants are eligible for distribution from that state's special deposit. Moreover, this procedure finds support in the Act. When a liquidation proceeding is initiated in Pennsylvania for an insurer domiciled in Pennsylvania, ". . . claimants residing in reciprocal states may file claims either with the ancillary receivers, if any, in their respective states, or with the domiciliary liquidator". See 40 P.S. §221.58(a). Additionally, 40 P.S. §221.58(b) provides that "Claims belonging to claimants residing in reciprocal states may be proved either in the liquidation proceeding in this Commonwealth as provided in this article, or in ancillary proceedings, if any, in the reciprocal states." Section 221.58(b) also provides that "the final allowance of claims by the courts in ancillary proceedings in reciprocal states shall be conclusive as to amount and as to priority against special deposits or other security located in such ancillary states. . .". Emphasis added.

19. Accordingly, the Liquidator has determined not to automatically issue class (e) NODs to all Ineligible Claimants but, instead, to use the following procedure for Ineligible Claimants ("Ineligible Claimant Procedure"):

a. The Liquidator will send letters to all Ineligible Claimants advising them that they may be able to pursue a claim against the special deposit held in their Deposit State and providing appropriate contact information for the administrator of the special deposit in the applicable Deposit States.

b. With respect to Ineligible Claimants who, but for Section 221.61, would or may have a class (b) claim with an allowed amount greater than $0 in the Reliance PA Estate, the letter will additionally direct the Ineligible Claimants to advise the Liquidator, within sixty (60) days of the date of the letter, whether the Claimants intend to pursue a special deposit claim in one of the Deposit States. Ineligible Claimants who timely disclaim any intent to pursue a special deposit claim will then become eligible for distributions from the Reliance PA Estate. Ineligible Claimants who fail to timely respond to the Liquidator's letter or who pursue a special deposit claim will be issued a class (e) NOD directing them to the special deposit in their state.

c. If a Deposit State finally determines that an Ineligible Claimant does not have a valid special deposit claim based on the Deposit State's eligibility criteria, the Ineligible Claimant may renew its claim in the Reliance PA Estate provided that such claim is not prohibited by any claims bar date established by this Court.

20. Subject to the Ineligible Claimant Procedure and the applicable provisions of the Aggregate Order, all class (b) Claimants, other than the Ineligible Claimants and the GAs, whose NOD has been approved by this Court ("Eligible Claimants"), will be eligible for the cumulative Third Interim Distribution.

Asset Distribution Calculation

21. In 2011, Reliance actuaries completed an update of the asset distribution model that projected cash inflows and outflows in future years for the purpose of estimating ultimate distribution rates under a variety of scenarios in order to determine an appropriate cumulative distribution percentage for the Second Interim Distribution. The cash receipts for the Estate consist largely of reinsurance collections, reinsurance commutations and investment income. The cash disbursements for the Estate are primarily valid operating expenses for both the Liquidator and GAs, early access distributions to GAs, and interim asset distributions to Eligible Claimants.

22. The model includes conservative scenarios in order to adequately protect Eligible Claimants who have not yet received a NOD from the risk of disproportionate payouts due to interim distribution overpayments which generally cannot be recovered from individual Eligible Claimants. The model utilizes estimates of ultimate liabilities, estimates of known and unknown losses and allocated loss adjustment expense (“ALAE”) exposures which are based on claims data through September 30, 2008 and determined by independent actuarial review. To reflect more current data, the model was adjusted for actual claims experience through the end of 2010.

23. Although the range of scenarios produced by the model are considered reasonable, the actual financial results for the Estate will deviate from specific model projections due to the uncertainty inherent in the numerous assumptions for various factors, including:

- a. Variability of the ultimate dollar amount of claims incurred and related reinsurance recoverables on those claims;
- b. Collectibility of ceded reinsurance;
- c. Timing of claim payments by GAs, claim determinations by Reliance and timing of associated reinsurance collections;
- d. Extent, timing and cost (discount) of reinsurance commutations;
- e. Future operating expenses for both Reliance and the GAs;
- f. Future investment income on invested assets;
- g. Potential additional early access distributions to GAs;
- h. Revised priority classification of certain types of disputed NODs or certain POCs;
- i. Timing of a court ordered bar date;
- j. Potential tax implications; and

- k. Reflection of potential liabilities related to structured settlements.

24. In order to assess the impact of various assumptions on the ultimate distribution percentage, numerous scenarios were generated, including those to address the possibility of:

- a. Higher dollar amounts of incurred claims;
- b. Lower dollar amounts of claims recoverable under reinsurance;
- c. Lower investment income;
- d. Higher operating expenses; and
- e. Slower and/or lower levels of reinsurance collections.

25. In 2011, PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP (“PwC”) performed a review (“2011 PwC Model Review”) of the asset distribution model created by Reliance. Exhibit B provides the findings, observations and conclusions of the 2011 PwC Model Review regarding the asset distribution model and the distribution percentage proposed by the Liquidator for the cumulative Third Interim Distribution. The conclusions of the 2011 PwC Model Review include the following:

- a. The asset distribution model adequately illustrates a broad range of potential future cash flows;
- b. The asset distribution model generally uses reasonable assumptions in its base model;
- c. The proposed cumulative third distribution percentage is lower than most of the ultimate distribution percentages involving various conservative scenarios;
- d. The proposed cumulative third distribution percentage is reasonable, given the numerous uncertainties which could affect the ultimate distribution.

Proposal for Cumulative Third Interim Distribution

26. Based on the scenarios produced by the asset distribution model, the results of the 2011 PwC Model Review, and considering the factors outlined above, the Liquidator proposes increasing the 30% Second Interim Distribution Percentage to 40% (“Third Interim Distribution Percentage”). This increase in the distribution percentage would result in an additional $68.6 million for the Eligible Claimants who already received a distribution on class (b) NODs approved by the Court through September 30, 2011.

27. The Liquidator believes that the proposed cumulative Third Interim Distribution Percentage fulfills his duty to “pay distributions in a manner that will assure the proper recognition of priorities and a reasonable balance between the expeditious completion of the liquidation and the protection of unliquidated and undetermined claims, . . . .” as required by 40 P.S. §221.46.

28. The Liquidator generally makes quarterly distribution payments to Eligible Claimants whose NOD is approved by the Court subsequent to the previous quarterly distribution payment. If and when this Court approves the cumulative Third Interim Distribution Percentage, Eligible Claimants who have already received a 30% distribution will receive an additional distribution based on the percentage increase to 40% and Eligible Claimants who have not received any distribution payments will receive a 40% distribution.

WHEREFORE, the Liquidator respectfully requests that this Court grant this Petition and Order as follows:

a) The cumulative Third Interim Distribution Percentage for 40% of NOD allowed amounts is approved for all Eligible Claimants;

b) The Ineligible Claimants listed on Exhibit A to the Petition, and any future Ineligible Claimants as defined in the Petition, must look to the Guaranty Association in their state or the special deposits held in their state for any payment of their claims, and may not receive any distribution from the Reliance Estate unless they become eligible for distribution in accordance with the Ineligible Claimant Procedure as set forth in the Petition;

c) The calculation methodology and the Safety Factor Percentage defined in the Aggregate Petition and approved by this Court's Aggregate Order, and as modified by any subsequent Orders, will continue to be applied to all claims under policies with aggregate limits and any distributions made on those claims; and

d) The Liquidator shall issue checks based on the cumulative Third Interim Distribution Percentage to Eligible Claimants; those Eligible Claimants who have already received a 30% distribution will receive an additional distribution based on the increase in the distribution percentage to 40%.

EXHIBIT B

July 11, 2011

Mr. David Brietling
Chief Liquidation Officer
Reliance Insurance Company (In Liquidation)
3 Parkway, 5th Floor
Philadelphia, PA 19102

Dear Mr. Brietling:

Reliance Insurance Company (In Liquidation) ("Reliance" or the "Company") has requested that PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP ("PwC") review a range of scenarios of the ultimate distribution of assets to class (b) claimants modeled by Reliance actuaries along with the Liquidator's recommendation to increase the interim distribution from 30% to 40%. This letter presents our findings and major observations, as well as a general description of Reliance's approach and PwC's review.

DISTRIBUTION AND USE

This review was prepared for Reliance and should not be distributed or disseminated to third parties (persons or entities who are not Commonwealth officials, employees, courts, departments, agencies, boards or commissions and the Statutory Liquidator, Reliance employees and their agents and consultants), except as required by law including, but not limited to, Pennsylvania's Right to Know Law, legal process or court order, without prior consent of PwC. PwC acknowledges that portions of our review may be filed with the Commonwealth Court of Pennsylvania. Further distribution of this review will not result in the creation of any duty or liability by PwC to a third party.

CONDITIONS AND LIMITATIONS

The information subject to our review was prepared by and is the responsibility of Reliance. PwC assumes no responsibility and makes no representations with respect to the accuracy and completeness of the information and spreadsheet calculations provided. PwC did not audit the data used in the distribution model or examine the underlying spreadsheets from a quality control perspective (e.g., examine all formulas, cells, references, etc.), but relied upon Company management for their accuracy. As actuaries, we do not provide tax advice and therefore cannot provide an opinion on the potential tax implications embedded within Reliance's distribution model. Although certain cells were tested, it is possible that the spreadsheets contain errors that were not identified in our limited review due to the large number of underlying calculations and formulas.

Reliance's ultimate distribution is subject to considerable uncertainty due to the liquidation process and various factors such as:

- Variability of gross ultimate losses and ceded reinsurance;
- Timing and collectibility of ceded reinsurance recoverables and receivables;
- Timing of claim payouts by guaranty associations (“GAs”) and Reliance claim determinations;
- The extent, timing and cost of reinsurance commutations;
- Future operating expenses;
- Future investment income (and associated rates of return);
- Potential additional distributions of early access funds to guaranty associations (GAs).
- A significant change in the priority classification of various types of Notices of Determination (“NODs”);
- Class priority assignment for certain claims;
- Reflection of potential liabilities related to structured settlements;
- Potential tax implications; and,
- Timing of a Court-ordered claims bar date.

FINDINGS

Using loss information valued as of 12/31/10 and additional information through the date of this letter, Reliance actuaries have developed an asset distribution model that projects future years' cash inflows (i.e., reinsurance collections/commutations and investment income) and cash outflows (i.e., operating expenses, early access distributions to guaranty funds, and interim asset distributions to claimants who have no GA coverage or limited GA coverage (“Uncovered Claimants”)) for 2011 and subsequent. The purpose of this model is to estimate ultimate distribution rates under a variety of conservative scenarios in order to determine whether it is appropriate to increase the interim distribution of Reliance assets to Uncovered Claimants. These interim distributions are designed to adequately protect long-tail class (b) claimants from the risk of disproportionate payouts due to early distribution overpayments.

Based on the results of its modeling, we understand that the Liquidator is planning to recommend an increased distribution percentage from 30% to 40% to the Court in 2011.

While Reliance's base model was constructed using reasonable assumptions, actual results will likely deviate from projections due to the uncertainty inherent in numerous assumptions for the factors noted above. Therefore, in order to assess their impact on the ultimate distribution percentages, Reliance ran numerous alternative scenarios that varied the following parameters:

- Gross loss reserve projections;
- Ceded reinsurance recoveries;
- Investment income returns;
- Operating expenses;
- The speed of reinsurance collections; and,
- Early access to guaranty funds.

Other alternatives were also considered for possible significant "shock" losses or operational changes to the estate. Only fairly extreme, adverse scenarios generated distribution percentages below 40% (e.g., no investment income, significant deterioration of net loss reserves, high future operating expenses, credit risk from structured settlements, change in the priority class of certain claims, and federal income taxes). Since our review of Reliance's last asset distribution increase to 30% (using information as of 12/31/08), we note that the results of the various scenarios examined by its actuaries have generally improved for a variety of reasons including:

- Investment income and unrealized capital gains were higher than expected;
- Uncollectible reinsurance (bad debt) estimates have declined as ceded outstanding amounts have been reduced through collections and commutations;
- Consideration of favorable loss emergence in certain business segments; and,
- Outstanding loss reserves have diminished, primarily through payments and issuance of NODs, so the margins for potential adverse development on scenarios using higher confidence level reserves have decreased.

Based upon our review of Reliance's spreadsheets, we believe the Company has developed a model that adequately illustrates a broad range of potential future cash flows. The recommended increased distribution percentage of 40% to class (b) claimants in 2011 is lower than most of the Reliance scenarios involving various conservative assumptions. Given the numerous uncertainties that could affect the ultimate distribution, PwC concurs with the Liquidator that increasing the distribution to 40% is reasonable at this time. In the event of an adverse scenario or a potential "shock" loss manifesting in the future, we recognize that Reliance could still effect the ultimate distribution using a number of possible approaches (e.g., reduce or clawback early access funds, decrease planned interim distributions, etc.) until more certainty is gained in order to protect long-tail claimants from the risk of early overpayments.

BACKGROUND

Prior to the filing for liquidation by Pennsylvania regulators in 2001, Reliance Insurance Group (RIG) was owned by a publicly traded holding company, Reliance Group Holdings (RGH). RGH was primarily engaged in property/casualty insurance and reinsurance as well as computer consulting and technical services. Within RIG were a number of domestic property/casualty affiliated companies. These companies offered a full array of standard and specialty commercial insurance coverages principally in the United States, largely through independent agents and brokers.

In 1996 to 1998, Reliance's business grew, with an expansion of new products and a focus on diversification and specialization. This approach led to the Company's participation in most property/casualty coverages, with particular concentrations in workers' compensation, general liability, and commercial auto.

Reliance maintained a strategy of extensive utilization of reinsurance including quota share, excess of loss, and aggregate stop loss agreements. Its business retention of 50-60% on certain lines of business was generally lower than some of its commercial peers. To a certain extent, credit risk associated with its reinsurance cessions was mitigated by the collateralization of a significant portion of reinsurance recoverable balances and by the use of highly-rated reinsurers (at the time of placement).

Beginning in 1999, Reliance experienced a number of financial problems, including significant adverse reserve developments, and debt financing issues related to its parent, Reliance Group Holdings. Although it was able to sell certain portions of its business, e.g., surety, its risk-based capital requirements triggered regulatory action and eventually led to oversight by the Pennsylvania Insurance Department. On May 29, 2001, Pennsylvania Commonwealth Court entered an Order of Rehabilitation. On October 3, 2001, the Pennsylvania Commonwealth Court entered an Order for Liquidation.

On January 17, 2008, the Pennsylvania Commonwealth Court approved the Liquidator's Petition for a First Interim Distribution allowing a 20% distribution to all class (b) claimants whose NOD is approved by the Court (subject to potential adjustments also approved by Court). On March 29, 2010, the Court issued its order approving the Liquidator's Petition for a Second Interim Distribution. The recommended 10% increase in the distribution percentage was approved for all class (b) Eligible Claimants for a total cumulative interim distribution of 30% of the allowed amount of each NOD (subject to the aggregate safety factor) which has been approved by the Court.

PwC'S REVIEW

Reliance provided PwC with spreadsheets documenting its asset distribution model and the output of various scenarios where we:

- Reviewed the rollforward of gross, ceded, and net reserves for direct business and assumed business to 12/31/10 since PwC's last actuarial analysis evaluated as of 9/30/08.
- Verified that adjustments to gross IBNR reserve estimates in the modeling was consistent with the finding of a prior PwC study which reviewed claims emergence since our last comprehensive study as of 9/30/08.
- Reconciled the 12/31/10 balance sheet amounts embedded within the model to Reliance's Special Purpose Statement of Assets and Liabilities published in the Quarterly Report of the Liquidator on the Status of the Liquidation of Reliance Insurance Company as of December 31, 2010.
- Tied the selected loss and ALAE payout patterns with PwC selections in its 9/30/08 study and reviewed any adjustments for appropriateness.
- Tied payout patterns for mass torts to information provided by PwC to Reliance.
- Tied reserve confidence levels to prior PwC analysis provided to Reliance.
- Reconciled AM Best 10-year impairment rates used in Reliance's reinsurance collectibility analysis with Best's Impairment Rate and Rating Transition Study.
- Reviewed expense assumptions.
- Confirmed that Reliance's model descriptions were consistent with spreadsheet parameters.
- Recalculated amounts in the spreadsheets on a sample basis.

We also conducted several discussions with Reliance actuaries about its modeling spreadsheets and assumptions.
